An Afterclap of Fate Jan 29 2020 In this epic narrative, Charles Lind creates a detailed, poetic, and convincing account of mountaineering's greatest mystery - Mallory and Irvine's last climb on Everest. Mallory described a climb as a spiritual journey: "To struggle and to understand - never this last without the other." An Afterclap of Fate is a profound recreation of that struggle, the journey to understand during the climb, set within a meticulously researched narrative. The reader is taken into the stream of Mallory's consciousness. This vivid reliving of the detail of the climb leads the reader into the heart and soul of Mallory himself. The narrative stretches from Mallory's earliest childhood memory to moving recollections of the First World War and finally to the realization of the dream - the summit of Mt. Everest. An Afterclap of Fate is more than a meditation on the paths of glory and the changeling nicknamed Free Will, it is also about the why of climbing and its wild joy. Stephen Venables called it "a magnificent poem ... beautiful ... and incredibly moving." It is haunting and unforgettable - an elegy and a paean to the pioneers of the Golden and Silver Ages of mountaineering. WINNER OF THE 2006 BOARDMAN TASKER PRIZE FOR MOUNTAINEERING LITERATURE "This is a bold book; fact, fiction and fantasy rolled together in a refreshingly different approach. ... the writing is powerful, superbly structured and Lind indeed casts the fine spell of words." - Ronald Faux, 2006 Boardman Tasker Prize chair of judges

ASEAN and Power in International Relations May 15 2021 This book analyses the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) as a powerful actor in International Relations by examining how the ASEAN community has evolved, looking specifically at its relationship with the EU with regards to human rights. The book adds to important contemporary debates within constructivist theory, shedding light on the need for 'critical' constructivism that emphasises language and contestation and what that may entail. On an empirical level, it challenges the idea of an 'EU-centrism,' demonstrating how ASEAN is the major driving force behind its human rights and community aspirations, as well as within the ASEAN-EU relationship. Furthermore, this book engages with the introspection surrounding constructivism by addressing the trouble with 'norms,' and instead unpacking the relationship between ASEAN and the EU to show language power in play. In particular, the book looks at how language, or rather coercive language, helps us 'see' contestation in action, something that researchers sympathetic towards the idea of ASEAN's 'resistance' have been unable to show through a focus on norms. Tracing the evolution of the ASEAN community and human rights aspirations in a new light, showing how exactly the EU remains an inspiration, but not a model, and more interestingly how ASEAN demonstrates power in the relationship, the book will be of interest to academics working on Asian Studies, European Studies, International Relations Theory and human rights.
