Lanterne rouge à Châteauf-du-Faou Jan 05 2023 Une veste flotte entre deux eaux dans le paisible canal de Nantes à Brest. Un pêcheur l'apporte au commissariat. Il s'avère que son propriétaire a quitté Châteauf-du-Faou avec son bateau pour remonter le canal vers Carhaix et s'est amarré non loin de l'écluse de Lanmeur... Depuis, il n'est plus réapparu. L'environnement de cet homme est trouble et inquiétant. Querelles avec ses deux voisins les plus proches, une ex-épouse peu amène, une amie au passé douteux, des ex-collaborateurs vindicatifs à son égard... Autant de pistes possibles pour nos deux officiers de police judiciaire. Dès lors, ils vont mettre tous les moyens en œuvre pour découvrir la vérité... Retrouvez les deux personnages fétiches de Firmin Le Bourhis dans une enquête passionnante ! EXTRAIT — Alors, de quoi s'agit-il ? — Voilà, j'étais à la pêche, comme d'habitude, c'est-à-dire le dimanche après-midi. Pour une fois, j'étais seul, sans ma femme. Je ne me trouvais pas très loin de l'écluse du Gwaker, sur le Canal de Nantes à Brest. Est-ce que vous sitez ? — Non, pas vraiment... Mon collègue, le capitaine François Le Duigou, fin pêcheur, doit sûrement connaître. Mais, si vous en veniez au fait... — Je pêchais tranquillement quand j'ai aperçu un vêtement qui flottait, j'ai cru sur le coup que c'était peut-être un noyé, car je n'en voyais qu'une petite partie. J'ai essayé de l'accrocher avec ma ligne à plusieurs reprises... Rien à faire ! J'ai posé ma canne à pêche et j'ai suivi un moment le cours du canal. J'ai enfin réussi, avec une longue branche, à dévier doucement ce qui flottait et à l'attirer vers la berge. À PROPOS DE L'AUTEUR Né à Kernével en 1950, Firmin Le Bourhis vit et écrit à Concarneau en Bretagne. Après une carrière de cadre supérieur de banque, ce passionné de lecture et d'écriture s'est fait connaître en 2000 par un premier ouvrage intitulé Quel jour sommes-nous ?, suivi d'un second, Rendez-vous à Pristina, publié dans le cadre d'une action humanitaire au profit des réfugiés du Kosovo. Connu et reconnu bien au-delà des frontières bretonnes, Firmin Le Bourhis est aujourd'hui l'un des auteurs de romans policiers bretons les plus appréciés, avec vingt-huit enquêtes déjà publiées. Il est également l'auteur d'essais sur des thèmes médicaux et humanitaires. Ses ouvrages sont tous enregistrés à la bibliothèque sonore de Quimper au service des déficients.

And now that George's over-protective daughter has gone to South America, it's time to seize the moment. But just when he feels free of family ties, George's granddaughter Adèle starts calling him from London, and he finds himself promising to text her as he travels around France, although he doesn't even know how to use a mobile. George is plagued by doubts, health worries and an indifference to modern technology. And yet - might the journey still prove to be everything he had hoped for?

Brittany and the Angevins Mar 15 2021 The rule of the Angevins in Brittany is characterized usually as opening an isolated 'Celtic' society to a wider world and imposing new and alien institutions. This study of Brittany under the Angevins, first published in 2000, demonstrates that the opposite is true: that before the advent of Henry II in 1158, the Bretons were already active participants in Anglo-Norman and French society. Indeed those Bretons with landholdings in England, Normandy and Anjou were already accustomed to Angevin rule. The book examines in detail the means by which Henry II gained sovereignty over Brittany and how it was governed subsequently by the Angevin kings of England from 1158 to 1203. In particular, it examines the extent to which the Angevins ruled Brittany directly, or delegated authority either to native dukes or royal ministers and shows that in this respect the nature of Angevin rule changed and evolved over the period.

France, Official Standard Names Approved by the United States Board on Geographic Names Apr 27 2022 Nearly the whole of America's partisan politics centers on a single question: Can markets solve our social problems? And for years this question has played out ferociously in the debates about how we should educate our children. From the growth of vouchers and charter schools to the implementation of No Child Left Behind, policy makers have increasingly turned to market-based models to help improve our schools, believing that private institutions--because they are competitively driven--are better than public ones. With The Public School Advantage, Christopher A. and Sarah Theule Lubienski offer powerful evidence to undercut this belief, showing that public schools in fact out-perform private ones.

Food for the Future Dec 12 2020 It's not easy to eat well. To choose food wisely, you need to know where it comes from and how it's produced. As consumers, most of us don't know what we're getting and eating in our supermarkets and restaurants. When rumours and food scares circulate in the media, we panic. Since most of us know very little about the real state of agriculture today and the ways in which the global agricultural industry produces the foods that end up on our plates, we have no basis on which to make informed judgements. In this important new book, José Bové and François Dufour – two men from modest farming backgrounds who have become international icons of the resistance to global capitalism – unveil the workings of the agricultural industry today and lay down the principles for the creation of a new agriculture for the twenty-first century. Following on from their international bestseller The World is not For Sale, Bové and Dufour have joined forces again to build a constructive programme for the food of the future. They seek to make available to every citizen the facts they need in order to understand the crisis of agriculture today and to see how we can move beyond it. Presenting a positive agenda for a new kind of agriculture, they lay the foundations for a renewal of trust between farmers and citizen-consumers in a way that would bring food – and the production of food – back into the heart of modern society.

Napoleon, France and Waterloo Jan 13 2021 So great is the weight of reading on the subject of the Waterloo campaign that it might be thought there is nothing left to say about it, and from the military viewpoint, this is very much the case. But one critical aspect of the story has gone all but untold – the French home front. Little has been written about the topic in English, and few works on Napoleon or Revolutionary and Napoleonic France pay it much attention. It is this conspicuous gap in the literature that Charles Esdaile explores in this erudite and absorbing study. Drawing on the vivid, revealing material that is available in the French archives, in the writings of soldiers who fought in France in 1814 and 1815 and in the memoirs of civilians who witnessed the fall of Napoleon or the Hundred Days, he gives us a fascinating new insight into the military and domestic context of the Waterloo campaign, the Napoleonic legend and the wider situation across Europe.

Four French Symbolists Apr 03 2020 The first comprehensive, scholarly sourcebook/research guide/bibliography on the major French Symbolists painters, this work includes nearly 3,000 entries covering a variety of materials. Each artist receives a primary and secondary bibliography with many annotated entries. Art works, personal names, and subject indexes facilitate easy access. The volume is designed for art historians, art students, museum and gallery curators, and others interested in this major art style of the last half of the 19th century and the first quarter of the 20th century. Art museums and art libraries in both the United States and abroad were gleaned for sources. This is a unique and substantial research tool. Symbolism is one of the most difficult art movements to define. Its primary meaning is the representation of things by symbols, by the imaginative suggestion of dreams and the subconscious through symbolic allusion and luxuriant decoration. The writings of Charles Baudelaire on the arts powerfully influenced the aesthetic theories of Symbolist artists and critics from 1860-1900, much as Baudelaire's poetics were the root of Symbolist literature. The Symbolist work, be it painting or poem, is above all personal and revelatory, precious not commonplace, reflecting and evoking a journey of the imagination. French Symbolist artists explored this style, attitude, and atmosphere from the 1880s to the early twentieth century. This sourcebook organizes biographical, historical, and critical information on four major French Symbolist artists: Pierre Puvis de Chavannes (1824-98), Gustave Moreau (1826-98), Odilon Redon (1840-1916), and Maurice Denis (1870-1943). The first three artists are recognized as originators of the movement. Denis is regarded as Symbolist's foremost theorist and profoundly religious practitioner. Although all four artists have been the focus of major retrospective exhibitions since 1990, no comprehensive sourcebook/bibliography exists.

The Rural Landscape Nov 30 2019 From the acclaimed landscape historian and geographer, a comprehensive handbook to understanding the elements that make up the rural landscape. Selected by Choice Magazine as an Outstanding Academic Title In this book, John Fraser Hart offers a comprehensive handbook to understanding the elements that make up the rural landscape—those regions that lie at or beyond the fringes of modern metropolitan life. Though the last two centuries have seen an inversion in the portion of people living on farms to those in cities, the land still beckons, whether traversed in a car or train, scanned from far above, or as the locus of our food supply or leisure. The Rural Landscape provides a deceptively simple method for approaching the often complex and variegated shape of the land. Hart divides it into its mineral, vegetable, and animal components and shows how each are interdependent, using examples from across Europe and America. Looking at the land forms of southern England, for instance, he comments on the use of hedgerows to divide fields, the mineral or geomorphological features of the land determining where hedgerows will grow in service of the human animal's needs. Hart reveals the impact on the land of human culture and the basic imperative of making a living as well as the evolution of technical skills toward that end (as seen in the advance of barbed wire as a function of modern transportation). Hart describes with equal clarity the erosion of land to form river basins and the workings of a coal mine. He charts shifting patterns of crop rotation, from the medieval rota of food (wheat or rye), feed (barley or oats), and fallow (to restore the land) to modern two-crop cycle of corn and soybeans, made possible by fertilizers and pesticides. He comments on traditions of land division (it is almost impossible to find a straight line on a map of Europe) and inventories a variety of farm structures (from hop yards and oast houses to the use of dikes for irrigation). He identifies the relict features of the landscape—from low earthen terraces once used in the southern United States to prevent erosion to old bank buildings that have become taverns and barns turned into human homes. Carrying the story of the rural landscape into our frantic era, he describes the "bow wave" where city life meets rural agriculture and plots the effect of recreation and its structures on the look of the land.
